Description of Program

After the interviewing process ten candidates will be selected based on outcomes. During the summer session, May through July, each candidate will be evaluated and calibrated in various clinical procedures utilizing the preclinical manikins in the simulation laboratory. If the candidate's performance is deemed satisfactory, he/she will be admitted to the third year (D3) class. If unsuccessful, the acceptance will be rescinded, based on the performance, and the recommendation of the chairs, the admissions committee and the Dean.
