This optional session is designed for new users of AClient, the software used to process ADEA AADSAS applications. It will focus on AClient basics and is considered a great refresher for experienced users.

9:30 a.m. – noon

ADEA FADEA Discussion
Sponsored by ADEA COHAEP and open to all

10:15 a.m. – noon

ADEA Academic Deans Program: Ethics

An academic dean is often involved in issues which have ethical, legal, and behavioral aspects. Addressing these dilemmas with appropriate decision-making and risk management are necessary in order to create a fair and balanced approach to an equitable end-result. Complex cases from dental school settings will be presented and discussed which illustrate the various issues involved. An Audience Response System (ARS) will be used to highlight the differing points of view and to initiate an open dialogue amongst the participants.

CE credits: 1.5

Learning Objectives

- Explore how to assess complex case scenarios using appropriate ethical, legal, and behavioral principles.

- Compare and contrast personal perspectives in dental education with other stakeholder perspectives.
- Appreciate the various points of view involved in a given case and describe the complexities of resolving the situation.

Phyllis L. Beemsterboer, M.S., Ed.D., Associate Dean of Academic Affairs Oregon Health and Science University

10:30 a.m. – noon

ADEA AFASA Session: AClient Experienced Users

This optional session is for experienced AClient users. It will focus on using AClient to the fullest extent.

Learning Objectives

- Identify different ways to communicate positive social change messages.

Mr. Derrik N. Ashong

Musician and social entrepreneur Derrik N. Ashong has found a myriad of ways to inspire, engage, and activate young people with positive messages for social change. Trained as a classical pianist and educated at Harvard University, he is also a self-taught guitarist and a performer, songwriter, and poet.

Recently he authored the hit song "From the Soul," which won Billboard Magazine's 2007 World Song Writing Competition, for the pan-African band Soulfège that he leads. He gave an interview outside a rally for Barack Obama in Los Angeles that has been viewed one million times on YouTube since its release.

Mr. Ashong is the founder of Take Back the Mic, a youth-centered niche and viral marketing and media firm. He is a member of the Next Generation Leadership Forum and a board member of the Interra Project, a consumer finance enterprise that helps reverse the impact of dollars spent with retailers that are not locally owned.

9:00 – 10:00 a.m. Plenary: The Three Dimensions of Diversity and Dental Education

CE credit: 1

Learning Objectives

- Explain the importance of diversity to dental education.
- Analyze the three dimensions of diversity.
- Recognize how diversity can improve satisfaction and experience.

Kevin Barnett, Dr.P.H., M.C.P., Senior Investigator, Public Health Institute

What is diversity and why is it important to dental education?
Evidence indicates diversity is associated with improved access to care, greater patient choice and satisfaction, and enhanced student educational experiences. But achieving diversity is more than increasing the enrollment of students from diverse backgrounds in our educational programs. Dr. Barnett will describe three “dimensions of diversity” and how they relate to dental education:

- Structural Diversity
- Classroom Diversity
- Institutional Climate

10:15 – 11:15 a.m.

Breakout Sessions

Breakout sessions will be group-specific (e.g., ADEA Council of Faculties, AFASA) and address diversity topics that relate to the group, such as how to enhance the educational pipeline, understanding what cultural competency is and how it can be integrated into the curriculum, how diversity can be addressed in advanced dental education programs, and what can be done to create a more inclusive climate in dental schools. Groups will also discuss how they can help dental education as a whole address these issues.

11:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

Breakout Session Report-Outs and Action Plans

Following brief reports from each group, joint discussion will focus on how each group can advance diversity initiatives.

12:30 – 2:15 p.m.

ADEA COHAEP Strategic Planning Session: Council Goals and the Fourth ADEA Summit on Advanced Dental Education

The first of two sessions devoted to assessing and updating the COHAEP Strategic Plan—setting new goals and outlining themes for the next Advanced Dental Education Summit scheduled for Fall 2011.

12:30 – 2:00 p.m.

Joint Networking Lunch

12:30 – 2:00 p.m.

ADEA COF and ADEA COSRF Technology Session

12:30 – 2:00 p.m.

ADEA Academic Deans Business Meeting

2:15 – 3:15 p.m.

Plenary: Stereotype Threat

CE credit: 1

Learning Objective

- Define stereotype threat.
- Evaluate how stereotype threat manifests in certain situations.
- Summarize the impact of stereotype threat.

Joshua Aronson, M.A., Ph.D., Associate Professor of Applied Psychology, New York University

Stereotype threat is the risk of confirming, as self-characteristic, a negative stereotype about one's group. It was first defined by Steele and Aronson, whose research evaluated the performance of students from various races and ethnicities on standardized tests. Dr. Aronson will explore the concept of stereotype threat, how it manifests itself in high-stakes situations, and the impact of intervention.

3:30 – 4:30 p.m.

Breakout Sessions

Each breakout group will consist of individuals from each of the groups participating in the ADEA Fall 2010 Meetings. Groups will discuss how stereotype threat manifests itself in admissions to predoctoral and advanced dental education programs and in other high-stakes situations in dental education.

4:30 – 5:30 p.m.

Breakout Session Report-Outs and Action Plans

Breakout groups will reconvene, and following brief reports, through joint discussion the entire group will propose ideas for future programming.

6:00 – 8:30 p.m.

Louisiana State University School of Dentistry Tour (optional)
