Opening Keynote Address

Serving our Community: Educators' Role in Meeting Communities' Needs

Sponsored by KaVo Kerr Group – Imaging

Trends suggest that dental care is changing at a rapid pace. Students who are graduating in this decade will face new employment environments within our communities, more government-funded payer sources, scope of practice changes and a never-before seen variety of cultural health influences. Allied dental directors must recognize the fundamentals of these influences and position their graduating practitioners for the future.

Focus will be placed on the discussion of concepts that will lead to the development of curricula that provide students with the skills and competencies necessary to serve the community and the ability to increase the number of Americans who have access to dental care.

Learning Objectives

- Describe the trends and various roles of allied dental graduates.
- Discuss the strategies for preparing students for future roles in a changing health care environment.

- Describe the program director's role in promoting change in the education of future students to meet the community's needs.

Closing Keynote Address:
Technology, Access and Serving Underserved Communities

With more than 80 million Americans facing barriers to obtaining dental care today, and changing demographics including an aging population, the need for innovation in oral health care delivery is becoming more acute. Apple Tree Dental is a nonprofit organization recognized for its technological, workforce and policy innovations spanning nearly three decades. Multi-disciplinary collaborations in care delivery, new financial and governance models, telehealth programs linking oral health teams and new mobile delivery systems are used to provide access to dental care across the life span.

Learning Objectives

- Recognize how a highly functioning integrated team of dentists and allied dental health professionals can enhance oral and overall health care for underserved populations by collaborating daily with other health professional teams in a variety of clinical locations.
- Examine various technologies used by educators, students and clinicians in several clinical education innovation projects designed to more cost-effectively reach underserved populations.
- Gain knowledge by sharing their own successes in incorporating innovations and technologies into their work settings and by interacting with the presenter and other participants.

About the ADEA/Colgate/AAL IAHE

The Institute for Allied Health Educators (IAHE) is an American Dental Education Association (ADEA) and Academy for Academic Leadership (AAL) Collaboration, with exclusive sponsorship from Colgate-Palmolive Co.

ADA CERP® | Continuing Education
Recognition Program

The American Dental Education Association is an ADA CERP Recognized Provider. ADA CERP is a service of the American Dental Association to assist dental professionals in identifying quality providers of continuing dental education. ADA CERP does not approve or endorse individual courses or instructors, nor does it imply acceptance of credit hours by boards of dentistry. ADEA designates this activity for 20 continuing education credits per program with a maximum of 60 credits for participation in all three programs. This continuing education activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the standards of the ADA Continuing Education Recognition Program (ADA CERP) through joint efforts between the American Dental Education Association and the Academy for Academic Leadership. This program is made possible through the generous support of the Colgate-Palmolive Co.

The American Dental Education Association is an ADA CERP Recognized Provider.

ADA CERP is a service of the American Dental Association to assist dental professionals in identifying quality providers of continuing dental education. ADA CERP does not approve or endorse individual courses or instructors, nor does it imply acceptance of credit hours by boards of dentistry.

The American Dental Education Association designates this activity for 10 continuing education credits.

Continuing education (CE) credit is awarded for participation in individual designated educational sessions and not for overall 2014 ADEA Allied Dental Program Directors' Conference attendance.

All speakers agree that neither they nor members of their immediate family have any financial relationships with commercial entities that may be relevant to their presentation.

How to Obtain Continuing Education (CE) Credits

To receive CE credit, please complete the evaluation process for all eligible attended sessions. Education session evaluations will be emailed to attendees on or before June 16, 2014. CE Verification Forms will be emailed in July 2014 to those individuals who complete the evaluation process on or before the deadline indicated on the evaluation. Should you have any questions, please contact Eric Lund, ADEA Professional Development Manager, at (202) 289-7201 or lunde@adea.org.
