| Alaska | The Alaska State Loan Repayment Program is also called the Supporting Health Access (through loan) Repayment Program (SHARP). SHARP-I is the traditional option. The program offers loan repayment for primary care clinicians working in federal health professional shortage areas (HPSAs), largely with underserved populations. SHARP is jointly supported by funds from several sources, including the State of Alaska’s General Fund, the Alaska Mental Health Trust Authority and the Health Resources and Services Administration, as well as by required partial employer match. Dentists may earn up to $35,000 per year or, for very hard-to-fill areas, $47,000 per year. Dental hygienists may earn up to $20,000 per year or, for very hard-to-fill areas, $27,000. Settings include community health centers, tribal health clinics and critical access hospitals, among others. A new component to Alaska’s SHARP Program, SHARP-3, is still in development. The SHARP-3 option was established through the passage of SB 93 in 2019. This bill established the Health Care Professionals Workforce Enhancement Program. Under this program, health professionals agree to work for three years in underserved areas in exchange for repayment of student loans or direct incentives. Dentists may be eligible for up to $35,000 annually, or up to $47,250 annually when employed in a very hard to fill position. Hygienists may be eligible for up to $20,000 annually, or up to $27,000 annually when employed in a very hard to fill position. This program replaces the Division of Public Health’s existing state loan repayment and incentive program, SHARP-2, which sunset June 30, 2019. | Arizona | The Arizona State Loan Repayment Programs (SLRP) provides loan repayment for eligible dentists and is administered by the Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS) and the Bureau of Women’s and Children’s Health. The SLRP has two components: the Primary Care Provider Loan Repayment Program (PCPLRP) and the Rural Private Primary Care Provider Loan Repayment Program (RPPCPLRP). The PCPLRP and the RPPCPLRP follow similar program guidelines. Eligible dentists must work in federally designated health professional shortage area (HPSA) or in medically underserved areas in Arizona. They must also agree to a minimum of two years of full-time service (40 hours per week) or half-time service (at least 20 hours per week). The amount of the loan award varies based upon type of provider, full-time versus half-time status, the HPSA score of the service site and the provider’s total student loan indebtedness. The order of making awards to eligible candidates is based on descending total priority score, which is determined by a set of variables that include geographic location, HPSA score, percent of underserved population served and other variables. |

| State | State Program Details |
| | The difference between PCPLRP and RPPCPLRP is the service site eligibility requirements based on the type and location of the site. The PCPLRP requires a primary care provider to have current or prospective employment with a public or private, nonprofit entity located and providing services in a federally designated HPSA in the state. Should the differential exceed the contract price approved for similar programs by the Southern Regional Education Board, the lesser amount will be paid.
