Keynote: Leading from the Middle

Speaker:

Scott Mautz

CEO, Profound Performance

Trainer, Speaker, Course Instructor and Author

In this riveting, interactive 90-minute session, the audience will discover why being a middle manager, or leading from the middle of an organization, is so difficult, and why—when you excel at it—it's something to be so proud of. The audience will learn of the importance of leading up, down and across an organization, and be introduced to the book that will serve as an ongoing resource to help them do just that. The session will then delve into the best overall practices of the most successful middle managers and end with an inspiring call to action.

Learning Objectives

- Define a middle manager, why it applies to all of us and why it's something to be proud of.
- Discover a framework that explains why leading from the middle is so hard; understand the difficulty in navigating it more effectively.
- Describe and apply some of the very best practices of the most successful middle managers.
- Prepare a complete toolkit for excelling as a middle manager.

Ways of communicating and corresponding with CODA staff will also be discussed.

10:30 – 10:45 p.m. Break

10:45 – noon Reimagining Dental Care: Leadership, Innovation and Collaboration for a New Era

Speaker:
Amber Lombardi, IPDH, B.S.D.H.
Founder/CEO
Mainely Teeth

In this session, we will explore how entrepreneurial thinking, visionary and servant leadership and cross-professional collaboration can transform the landscape of dental care. We will discuss how to responsibly practice to the fullest scope, build interdisciplinary partnerships, implement innovative care models and leverage data and technology to drive systems change. We'll also examine the role educators play in preparing future dental professionals to engage in advocacy, legislative participation and nontraditional pathways to care. Participants will leave with actionable strategies to cultivate a culture of innovation, support emerging leaders and expand access to care in their communities.

Learning Objectives

- Identify practical ways to integrate innovation, risk tolerance and growth-focused thinking in academic and clinical settings with an entrepreneurial mindset.
- Collaboratively develop a way to expand access to care through interprofessional practice, cross-training and working to the fullest scope of practice using a leadership framework, including visionary and servant leadership.
- Develop strategies to inspire and equip students and professionals to participate in legislative advocacy and system change.

Associate Professor, Graduate Program Director
Old Dominion University

Bridgette DeHart, J.D.

Director, Federal Government Relations and Advocacy
ADEA

Phillip Mauller, M.P.S.

Senior Director of State Relations and Advocacy
ADEA

Understanding the importance and interconnectedness of advocacy at the federal, state, local, institutional and professional levels is essential for leading the future leader of allied dental education. Dental hygiene has been dealing with various issues at the federal and state levels, while dental assisting is trying to promote a new three-phase professional model. Participants will be apprised of current and proposed policies impacting allied dental education. Additionally, participants will receive resources to enhance advocacy efforts within their allied dental curriculum.

Learning Objectives

- Identify resources to integrate advocacy efforts in the allied dental education curriculum.
- Discuss current policies impacting allied dental education and patient access to care.

- Apply leadership skills to advocate for or against policies impacting allied dental education at local and state levels and professional associations.
