ADEA Regional Accreditation Workshops

Dear Dental School Dean,

The July 1, 2013 implementation date for the revised Commission on Dental Accreditation (CODA) Accreditation Standards for Dental Education Programs is rapidly approaching. The American Dental Education Association (ADEA) realizes that the changes in the standards will present new challenges for our member institutions.

To help you and your faculty prepare for these challenges, we are developing a series of ADEA Regional Accreditation Workshops. Content will be presented by Professor William D. Hendricson, University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio School Dental School; Dr. Ann McCann, Baylor College of Dentistry; and Dr. Trudy Banta, Indiana University—Purdue University Indianapolis and will include critical areas related to the revised standards.

We are asking you to identify two to five key individuals at your institution to participate in the workshop within your region. Suggested participants are your academic dean, clinic dean, institutional assessment/strategic planning coordinator and/or chair of the self-study process. The intent is to provide valuable content to your key leaders in accreditation in a venue that promotes discussion, sharing, and collaboration.

Please note that there is no registration fee for the workshops. Additional information about the agenda, the presenters, and registration can be found at <http://www.adea.org/events/Pages/accreditationworkshop.aspx>.

Whether you will be one of the first schools experiencing a site visit under the new standards or one that will have a site visit at a later time, early preparation is critical. We encourage your institution's participation in these workshops and thank you for your support as we proactively work to help your school prepare for its next accreditation site visit.

ADEA Regional Accreditation Workshops

What are they?

Regional workshops sponsored by ADEA to be held between April 2012 and May 2013.

What is the goal?

To help schools prepare for accreditation site visits under the revised Commission on Dental Accreditation (CODA) Accreditation Standards for Dental Education Programs.

What are the topics?

- Best Practices for Assessment of Institutional Practices
- Strategies for Assessment of Students' Progression Towards Competency
- Strategies for Promoting and Assessing Critical Thinking, Self-Assessment and Life-Long Learning
- Strategies for Promoting and Assessing Competency in Evidence-base Practice

Who should attend?

Two to five individuals from your institution who are leaders in the accreditation process, e.g., your academic dean, clinic dean, institutional assessment/strategic planning coordinator, or chair of the self-study process.

What are the benefits of attendance?

- Early preparation. Whether you will be one of the first schools experiencing a site visit under the new standards or one that will have a site visit at a later time, early preparation is critical.
- Learning from colleagues as well as the presenters. The small venue will provide the opportunity for quality discussion, sharing, and collaboration among the participants as they interact with each other and the presenters.
