Conference Committee – If each chamber passes a different version of the bill, a conference committee is formed to work out the differences. A bill cannot be sent to the Governor until each chamber passes an identical version of the bill.

Sent to Governor – In most states, governors can sign a bill into law, allow a bill to become law without their signature or veto the bill.

Vetoed – Bill returned to Legislature for possible override.

Override successful → Bill becomes a law.